

Please Join Us to Commemorate: One Year After the Spray

Saturday, October 25, 2008
6pm – 8pm
Berkeley BART Station

September 9, 2008 marked the anniversary of the beginning of repeated spraying of pesticides over Monterey and Santa Cruz, as part of the Light Brown Apple Moth Eradication Program. The U.S. and California Departments of Agriculture want us to believe that the tiny, exotic LBAM is a threat to our food supply and ecology, even though it's done no actual damage to crops nor forests, and there's no evidence that it ever will. We are told their pesticides are safe and environmentally friendly, but hundreds of people have been injured already, and pets, and hundred of birds have died.

Please take a moment to remember those injured by this ongoing program, both by the aerial spray and other toxic methods, and by pesticides in general, and join us for a commemoration across regional boundaries, with music and sharing. Simultaneous gatherings are scheduled in Santa Cruz and San Rafael.

Music by Mokai, Andrea Pritchett (of Rebecca Riots), and Maxina Ventura

Please bring songs, stories, ideas to share, and candles,
but please leave scented products at home

---

Don't believe the hype: the Light Brown Apple Moth is NOT a threat, but pesticides are a clear and present danger!
Get involved to stop this assault!

---

IT'S NOT SAFE - IT'S NOT EFFECTIVE - IT'S NOT NECESSARY!

---

For more information:

www.DontSprayCalifornia.org

---

Co-sponsored by East Bay Pesticide Alert / Don't Spray California and
The Environmental Health Network of California (EHNCA.org)

---

Labor donated

